MOVING THROUGH NEPA

WHAT'S NEXT FOR DELAMAR?

The public scoping period for the DeLamar Project concluded on June 29, 2026. During the scoping period, the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) collected input from community members, Tribal Nations, agencies, and other interested parties to help identify the topics and considerations for analysis through the NEPA process.

The BLM has published its Scoping Report, which can be accessed through the Project's page on the BLM's National NEPA Register:

With public scoping now complete, the BLM has reviewed the input received and is progressing in its environmental analysis of the proposed DeLamar Project. This includes evaluating potential environmental impacts and reviewing proposed measures to avoid, minimize, or mitigate those impacts.

The BLM aims to issue its Record of Decision in 2027. You can track the Project's permitting progress any time by viewing the Permitting Council's dashboard: https://tinyurl.com/mpkjnvf6

Integra External Affairs Manager Emily Hendrickson presents at Let's Talk DeLamar meeting

LET'S TALK DELAMAR

INTEGRA-HOSTED COMMUNITY FEEDBACK MEETINGS

Throughout September and October, Integra hosted eight (8) Let's Talk DeLamar community meetings across Idaho, Oregon and Nevada, creating additional opportunities for community members to learn more about the DeLamar Project, ask questions, and share feedback. The meetings were separate from the formal NEPA process and focused specifically on local priorities and operational considerations that fall outside the scope of the regulatory analysis.

Key topics raised across the meetings included recreation and grazing access, employment and local business opportunities, mitigation measures, and environmental management and monitoring. Integra is currently preparing a report summarizing key themes, specific feedback, and identifying opportunities for consideration as Project planning and development continue. Meeting participants who provided their contact information will receive a copy of the report, and others may request a copy by emailing community@integraresources.com.

DMC staff and equipment responds to the Big Grass Fire

SUPPORTING OUR NEIGHBORS

DURING FIRE SEASON

In late July, the Big Grass Fire sparked, ultimately burning nearly 579,000 acres of rangeland in southeastern Oregon and Owyhee County, Idaho. The fire grew rapidly and threatened ranching operations, historic sites, and communities in the area. The Jordan Valley and Owyhee Rangeland Fire Protection Associations (RFPA) immediately mobilized to protect homes, livestock, and livelihoods, and community members jumped into action to provide support and supplies to those on the front lines.

The DeLamar team joined these efforts, contributing personnel, supplies, and making equipment, including bulldozers, water trucks, and logistics vehicles, available to support firefighting operations. Integra also helped secure hard-to-find replacement tires for RFPA vehicles as demanding conditions took a toll on equipment.

DELAMAR DAY 2026

CELEBRATING STRENGTH

Held shortly after the critical Big Grass Fire firefighting efforts, this year's DeLamar Day took on a special meaning. Along with bringing neighbors together to learn more about the Project and connect with Integra leadership, the event became an opportunity to recognize and thank the RFPAs, community members, and others who worked tirelessly to protect their neighbors and the places they call home.

PROTECTING OUR COMMUNITY

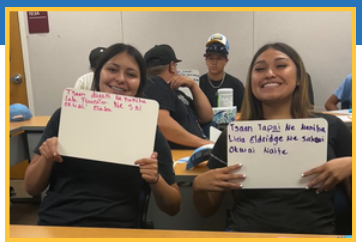

DeLamar Day guests received commemorative hats featuring a special "Protecting Our Community" patch, created this year to honor the neighbors who stepped up during the Big Grass Fire.

PARTNERSHIP IN ACTION

SHOSHONE PAIUTE SUMMER YOUTH CULTURE & LANGUAGE PROGRAM

In July, students from the Shoshone-Paiute Tribes, Shoshone-Bannock Tribes, and Fort McDermitt Paiute and Shoshone Tribes spent a week at Boise State University immersed in Shoshone and Paiute language, culture, and campus life through the Shoshone-Paiute Youth Language Program, hosted by Integra. Students stayed on campus in residence halls, participated in language instruction led by traditional language speakers, elders, and Tribal leaders, explored educational and career opportunities, and took part in cultural activities throughout the Treasure Valley.

The program was developed through the relationship agreement between the Shoshone-Paiute Tribes and Integra DeLamar, with partnership from Boise State University's Department of Linguistics and the Upper Snake River Tribes Foundation. The program reflects the partnership's shared commitment to language and cultural preservation while creating meaningful opportunities for the next generation.

> "Integrity, care, and innovation are at the heart of everything we do at Integra. We're proud to put those values into action through our partnership with the Shoshone-Paiute Tribes and programs like these."
